PROFESSIONAL SUMMARY

My name is Connor Thompson, and I am a junior-level front-end software engineer as well as a small business owner. My experience in the service and hospitality industries has led me to a relentless pursuit of knowledge and experience in software, culminating most recently in the Front-end bootcamp program offered by CodeFi in Paducah.

I am looking for an entry-level Junior Developer role where I can continue learning new skills and practices with knowledgeable mentors and coworkers.
